About the Avoca Summit

The 2020 Avoca Quality and Innovation Summit will take place virtually on October 14-15, 2020.

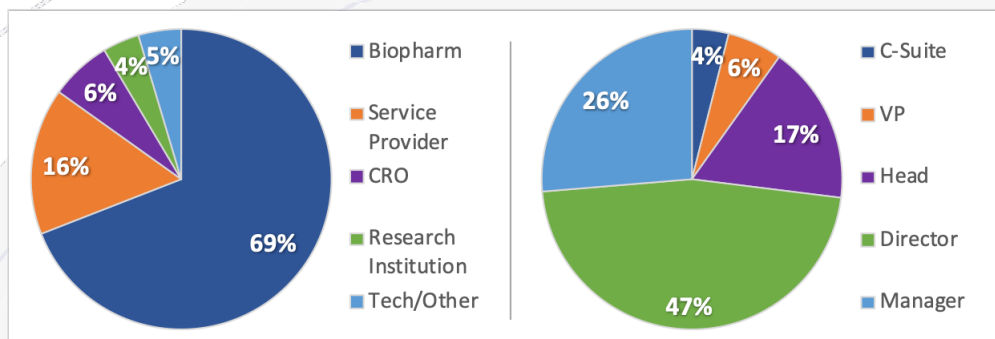

Now in its ninth year, the Avoca Summit focuses on quality and the adoption of innovative technology in the execution of clinical trials.

With two days of interactive sessions, panel discussions, and workshops, the Summit offers attendees the opportunity to engage with peers and thought leaders and to influence global change.

The collaborative nature of the event and diversity of participants allows for sharing of experiences and stimulating conversations. Individuals who work outside the clinical research space are able to view the important work of clinical trials through a distinctly different lens.

2019 Summit Attendee Profile

Last year's attendees represented leadership positions from manager to C-Level from biopharma, clinical research, and tech companies across 10 countries.
